19th December 2014

This is to inform the Persons of Indian Origin and Non-resident Indians that the 13th edition of the Pravasi Bhartiya Divas (PBD) convention, the flagship event of the Government of India, will be held in Gandhinagar, Gujarat on 07th to 09th January 2015. PBD 2015 is special for all of us as it is the centenary year of the return of Mahatma Gandhi from South Africa to India to lead us to freedom.

2. The Convention will be formally inaugurated on 8th January, 2015 by the Hon'ble Prime Minister after Pre-PBD events on the 7th January, 2015. The Valedictory address will be delivered on 9th January, 2015 and the Pravasi Bhartiya Samman Awards will also be conferred on the same day. Many eminent Persons of Indian Origin and Non-resident Indians and other important guests from India and abroad are participating in the convention.

3. In order to celebrate the occasion in a befitting manner, it has been decided to have a Book Exhibition wherein the books of overseas Indian writers are to be kept for the benefit of the participants during the PBD-2015.
